Six awards recognizing export and trade achievements were handed out at the 2013 New Brunswick Export Awards in Moncton Wednesday night, and two Moncton companies and the chief executive officer of the Greater Moncton International Airport were among the recipients.

Dizolve Group Corp. was named Emerging Exporter of the Year and Spielo International was named Exporter of the Year. Meanwhile, Jim Quinn of the Port of Saint John, and Rob Robichaud of the Greater Moncton International Airport received the Collaborative Partnership Award.

“International trade is a major component of our new export strategy’s underlying vision, goals and action plan, and these awards provide us the opportunity to showcase the importance of manufacturers, service providers and exporters to our provincial economy,” said Paul Robichaud, New Brunswick’s economic development minister.

“We are Canada’s most trade-driven province, and we are proud to recognize these top entrepreneurs who continue to be innovative, producing world-class products and services and promote our province.”

The other recipients were Smart Skin Technologies, of Fredericton, named Innovative Exporter of the Year; C-Therm Technologies Ltd., of Fredericton, which won the Global Diversification Award; and Enseignes Pattison Sign Group, of Edmundston, Foreign-owned Exporter.

“Our government is committed to helping Atlantic Canadian businesses compete internationally, grow their business and create jobs at home,” said National Revenue Minister Gail Shea, who is also minister of the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency (ACOA).

The awards are a joint initiative of the Department of Economic Development and Canadian Manufacturers and Exporters. ACOA and the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade also participated.

Dizolve Group Corp. is growing its markets all over the world with more than 15,000 stores selling its products. The company has grown from three employees to 20 to 35 in high peak production (24 hours, five days per week), while the headquarters and local production has increased to 990 square metres (11,000 square feet) from 270 square metres (3,000 square feet).
